MEOW MANOR

As a passion project, I conceptualized and created a brand for a cat cafe and wine bar. My goal was to blend both elegance and playfulness. I opted for clean sans-serif and script typefaces. With a whimsical feel, my color palette is green and pink. Through this, I created an atmosphere that is both unique and inviting.

POSTCARDS FROM PLACES I DON'T WANT TO BE

As a lifelong anxiety sufferer and introvert, I often find myself uncomfortable in everyday moments. This series captures places that most people find familiar. This award-winning piece depicts a sense of emptiness to convey the feeling of being out of place with each card.

THE CRUEL PRINCE COVER

This personal project is a fan-designed cover for The Cruel Prince by Holly Black. Using my original illustrations with seamless typography, moody blues and blacks set the tone and draw readers into a realm of mystery and faerie magic.

SHARPEN YOUR BLADE.

SHARPEN YOUR HEART.

Jude was seven when her parents were murdered and she and her two sisters were stolen away to live in the treacherous High Court of Faerie. Ten years later, Jude wants nothing more than to belong there—but many of the fey despise humans. Especially Prince Cardan, the youngest and wickedest son of the High King.

To win a place at the Court, Jude must defy him—and face the consequences.

From #1 New York Times Bestselling author Holly Black comes the first book in a stunning trilogy filled with twists and enchantment, as one girl learns the meaning of true power.

NATURAL WONDERS TRAVEL POSTERS

A set of three informational posters about the Great Barrier Reef, Grand Canyon, and the northern lights. Each poster includes a description, with optimal times to visit during the year and a variety of fun facts, which brings wanderlust in any traveler's heart.

the GRAND CANYON

The Grand Canyon isn't just a hole in the ground; it's a living tapestry woven by the Colorado River for over 6 million years. Imagine mile-deep gorges carved by rushing water, exposing layer upon layer of vibrant rock, whispering the secrets of ancient seas and shifting continents. This is a place where time becomes tangible, etched in every twist of the canyon walls, every whisper of the wind through the pines.

Stand at the rim and gasp as the canyon unfolds before you, a panorama painted in hues of ochre, rust, and lavender. Watch condors dance on thermals, dwarfed by the immensity below. Hike into the canyon and feel the embrace of its cool depths, sunlight filtering through ancient junipers and piñon pines.

Walk amongst towering rock formations named for mythical beasts and celestial bodies - Vishnu Temple, Osiris, Shiva Pinnacle. Every turn reveals a new vista, a hidden waterfall, a whisper of the canyon's ancient song.

The Grand Canyon's magic extends far beyond its iconic rims. Explore hidden slot canyons, their walls polished smooth by millennia of rushing water. Raft the mighty Colorado, experiencing the thrill of whitewater rapids and the peace of starry desert nights. Take a mule ride down into the canyon, a journey like stepping back in time, and lose yourself in the rhythm of hooves and whispers of mule bells.

when to visit

Spring (March-May): Pleasant temperatures, fewer crowds, and blooming wildflowers paint the canyon with vibrant hues.

Fall (September-November): Cooler temperatures, crisp air, and golden foliage transform the canyon into a wonderland.

Winter (December-February): The canyon takes on a serene, snow-dusted beauty, perfect for snowshoeing and enjoying cozy nights by the fireplace.

fun facts

1. The Grand Canyon is 277 miles long, up to 18 miles wide, and attains a depth of over a mile.
2. Fossils found in the canyon's rock layers tell the story of ancient seas, deserts, and forests that existed here millions of years ago.
3. The Havasupai Tribe, who have lived in the canyon for over 800 years, call it "wi Supai," meaning "place of blue-green water."
4. The canyon is home to over 1,500 species of plants and animals, including the Kaibab squirrel, the canyon wren, and the California condor.
5. Astronauts train in the Grand Canyon's challenging terrain to prepare for lunar expeditions.
6. The Grand Canyon was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1979.

the NORTHERN LIGHTS

The aurora borealis, also known as the Northern Lights, is more than just a light show; it's a celestial ballet painted across the velvet canvas of the night sky. Imagine curtains of vibrant emerald green cascading down from the heavens, streaks of violet and crimson weaving through the darkness, and ethereal ribbons of gold shimmering like celestial fireflies. This breathtaking phenomenon mesmerizes with its ever-changing dance, a symphony of light orchestrated by nature itself.

Charged particles, flung towards Earth in solar storms, collide with our atmosphere, lighting the gases in a vibrant display. But the secrets of the aurora borealis go even deeper. The color you see depends on the type of gas excited and the altitude of the collision. Oxygen paints the sky green, nitrogen adds wisps of blue and violet, and high-energy collisions spark vibrant crimson hues.

when to visit

September-October: The equinox offers longer nights and increased solar activity, maximizing your chances of witnessing the aurora.

November-March: While colder, these months boast the darkest skies and the most frequent displays.

April-May: Spring brings milder temperatures and a chance to see the aurora alongside the midnight sun in some regions.

fun facts

1. The word "aurora" comes from the Roman goddess of dawn, Aurora.
2. The Northern Lights have inspired legends and myths for centuries, with some cultures believing they were the spirits of ancestors dancing in the night sky.
3. The aurora borealis isn't exclusive to Earth; other planets with magnetic fields, like Jupiter and Saturn, also experience auroras.
4. The Northern Lights are sometimes accompanied by a faint crackling sound, which some describe as the rustling leaves or static electricity.
5. Chasing the Northern Lights is a popular tourist activity, with cities like Tromsø in Norway, Fairbanks in Alaska, and Abisko National Park in Sweden offering prime viewing spots.
6. You don't need expensive equipment to enjoy the Northern Lights; with clear skies and a bit of patience, you can witness this celestial spectacle with your own eyes.

the GREAT BARRIER REEF

Imagine a vibrant underwater metropolis teeming with life, where coral castles shimmer in every color imaginable. This isn't a fantasy; it's the Great Barrier Reef, the world's largest coral reef system, stretching for over 2,300 kilometers along Australia's northeastern coast. Dive beneath the surface, and you'll find yourself surrounded by a kaleidoscope of colors - clownfish darting through anemones, vibrantly striped butterflyfish flitting between coral branches, and majestic turtles gliding through the sunlit waters. It's a living symphony, a constant buzz of activity driven by the sun and the tireless rhythm of the tides.

But the Great Barrier Reef isn't just about the dazzling colors. Look closer, and you'll discover a universe of hidden wonders. Tiny nudibranchs, dressed in psychedelic hues, crawl across the coral. Shy octopus peek from their dens, their camouflage blending seamlessly with the rocks. And then, there are the giants of the reef - majestic manta rays gliding with wings that seem to touch the sky, playful dolphins frolicking in the waves, and even the occasional whale shark, the world's largest fish. Every encounter is a reminder of the interconnectedness of life, the delicate balance that sustains this underwater kingdom.

The Great Barrier Reef isn't just a visual spectacle; it's a symphony for all senses. Listen closely, and you'll hear the crackle of snapping shrimp, the soft chirps of fish, and the rhythmic whoosh of waves against the coral. At night, the reef transforms into a bioluminescent wonderland. Tiny plankton illuminate the water with an ethereal glow, creating an underwater light show that rivals anything you've ever seen. The Great Barrier Reef is a place where nature's artistry reaches its peak, where every moment is a reminder of the magic and wonder that lies just beneath the surface.

when to visit

June-August: Dry season with calm seas, perfect for snorkeling and diving.
September-November: Shoulder season with fewer crowds and pleasant temperatures.
December-March: Wet season with warmer waters and the possibility of cyclones, but also the chance to see baby turtles hatching.

fun facts

1. The Great Barrier Reef is so large it can be seen from space! It's the only living structure visible to the naked eye from orbit.
2. Over 1,500 species of fish call the reef home, making it one of the most biodiverse ecosystems on earth.
3. The reef is also a vital nursery for marine life, with over 600 species of coral providing food and shelter for countless creatures.
4. The Great Barrier Reef is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and one of the Seven Natural Wonders of the World.
5. Unfortunately, the reef faces threats like climate change and pollution. However, conservation efforts are underway to protect this precious ecosystem.
6. You don't need to be a scuba diver to experience the reef. Snorkeling, glass-bottom boat tours, and even kayaking offer incredible ways to explore this underwater wonderland.

GHOULISH GAMBIT PLAYING CARDS

Ghoulish Gambit is a hand-illustrated, standard 52-card deck. Each suit in this deck is adapted to embody classic Halloween archetypes featuring depictions of vampires, werewolves, pumpkin-headed dullahans, and witches. Symbols are accompanied for each suit. This project showcases traditional card design with spooky charm.

GOODDAYS

Gooddays is a skincare brand inspired by sun, sand, and surf. It includes protective sunscreen, after-sun lotion, and texturizing sea salt spray. Each product embodies the laid-back vibe of summer. With a color palette and design that emulates the coast, it is intended to bring the cool, casual spirit of the shore to a consumer's daily routine.

MUSIC POSTERS

A series of posters which captures the essence of music I enjoy. Each design is produced to emulate the vibe of each artist. By blending graphic elements and imagery, this project aims to bridge the gap between sight and sound.
